CONTEMPORARY ART

Call for Submissions

We are accepting proposals from practicing contemporary artists, curators, or collectives for future exhibitions. Your submission may include:

- About you – biography, curriculum vitae, or url
- Artist's statement about your work
- Examples of recent work – photographs, digital, video, or url
- About your proposed exhibit – Description including title, theme

Our artistic staff are experienced in proposals and submissions and are here to help you. The Nina provides an opening reception including printed invitations, refreshments, and live music.

Commission for Sales in the gallery is 20% – exhibits that are not for sale (installations, performance works etc.) will receive a $500 honorarium.

Proposals can be sent via mail or email, or delivered M-F 10-2

The Stollery Gallery is aprox. 1000 sq feet located within the Nina Haggerty Centre for the Arts (pronounced N-eye-na) and displays 12-19 exhibitions per year. The Nina is a studio where artists who have developmental disabilities can explore their creative potential, express their artistic voice and contribute to Edmonton's art community. The Stollery Gallery supports emerging art and artists that experience barriers to exhibition.
